TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE. POSTKARTE.

Courtyard, St. William's College. St. William's College, in Ogletorth (which was originally the house of the Prior of Hexham, in Northumberland), was once the residence of thirty-six parsons connected with York Minster. St William, whose embalmed head was preserved in York Minster until the Reformation, was a comparatively modern patron saint, for he died in 1154, and was only canonised in 1284.
